Mr. Johnson
General Manager
Rideline Power Bikes
Western North Carolina

Dear Mr. Johnson,

Thank you for the opportunity to work with Rideline Power Bikes. We look forward to exploring how Hardwired Consulting can help streamline operations and support your growth within budget.

As we have previously discussed, your goal is to modernize and optimize operational workflows while maintaining a quality that defines Rideline's products. We understand that your products are high-tech, and we want the operational side to match that. Hardwired Consulting is confident that the objectives are achievable, and we look forward to aligning technical implementations with your innovative product vision.

The formal business proposal, including a detailed Gantt chart, will be sent shortly. We look forward to further discussions regarding budget considerations and any operational constraints that may arise.

Sincerely,
James Padula
